DETAILED ACTION

Remarks

Indication of allowable subject matter issued in the previous action has been withdrawn due to a new ground rejection is provided as follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
3. Claim 6, lines 1 and 2, a recitation of "the feed system creates a layer of cooling gas adjacent to the interior of the plasma generator" raises a confusion since the cooling gas being generated within the plasma generator, therefore, it occupies a part of total interior of plasma generator so how it can be a location that adjacent to the interior of the plasma generator unless the cooling gas being generated from the outside of the generator.

Double Patenting

4. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

5. Claims 1, 2 and 16 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of double patenting over claims 1, 18 and 22 of U. S. Patent No. 6,781,087 B1 since the claims, if allowed, would improperly extend the "right to exclude" already granted in the patent.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the patent and is covered by the patent since the patent and the application are claiming common subject matter, as follows: a plurality of pneumatic feed rings located within a plasma generator which is supplied/energized by an alternating current and a plurality of electrodes generates an arc to heat the plasma gas (working stream).

Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant was prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application during prosecution of the application which matured into a patent. See In re Schneller, 397 F.2d 350, 158 USPQ 210 (CCPA 1968). See also MPEP § 804.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 5-7 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chism et al. (US Pat. 6,781,087), hereinafter Chism.

8. Chism discloses substantially the claim invention applied to claims 1, 2 and 16 as indicated above. However, Chism does not disclose the feeding system supplied to the plasma generator at a tangential angle or the alternating current power source comprises a multiple phase transformer that connects each electrode to conventional alternating current utility network or the ac power source operates at frequency of 1-10 KHz. The above limitations are a matter of design choice in order to extend or improve the system such implementations are considered as a routine of ordinary skill in the art such as a feeding system can be supplied to the plasma generator in any manner, perpendicular or an angle with the generator wall, as long as it meets its desired flowing and the ac power source can be operated at any frequency range as long as it suited. Similarly to the ac power source which utilizes one or multiphase transformer in order to increase the power as well as the timing for driving the plasma system in a desired manner.

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claims 4, 8-13 and 15 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

10. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior fails to disclose four feeding rings located inside of the plasma generator as required in claim 4 or the number of phases of the transformer is equal to the number of electrodes as required in claim 7. The prior art also lacks to support the plasma generator connected to an alternating current source via at least one separation filter as required in claim 15.

Citation of pertinent prior art

11. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicants' disclosure.

Nakahigashi et al. (US Pat. 5,651,825) discloses plasma generating apparatus and plasma processing apparatus.
